Wittman Regional Airport welcomes air traffic business to its new general terminal with today's ribbon-cutting to mark completion of the project.

New Wittman Airport facility takes flight

Oshkosh Herald

Wittman Regional Airport's new 12,500-square-foot aviation terminal is open for business to transient Fox Valley air traffic with updated space for administrative offices, meeting rooms, rental car operations and Basler Flight Service operations.

The aviation terminal dedicated this Wednesday with a ribbon cutting at 525 W. 20th Ave. was ahead of schedule by more than two weeks and under budget. Cardinal Construction of Fond du Lac was the general contractor for the $5.5 million project.

The single-story building replaces the existing commercial service passenger terminal built in 1971 and the former terminal built in 1958. Construction began last July.

"This addition to the airport will greatly modernize aviation services and reduce operating and maintenance costs," airport director Jim Schell said in announcing the terminal dedication. "The new facility also opens in time for the return of EAA AirVenture Oshkosh."

The terminal opening follows the completion of Taxiway A, a $7.5 million reconstruction project accomplished in November ahead of its original June timetable. The 60-foot-wide taxiway with updated lighting and signage replaces pavement that was constructed around 1967.

Funding contributions came from the FAA's Airport Improvement Program and matching support from the Wisconsin Bureau of Aeronautics and Winnebago County.

Taxiway A operates as a third runway during the Experimental Aircraft Association's AirVenture and will now operate three non-intersecting runways for arrivals and departures at the event set to open July 26.

Federal assistance gets input

ARPA funding ideas aired at public forums

Oshkosh Herald

Members of the public were given an opportunity to talk with City Manager Mark Rohloff about American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA) fund opportunities for the community.

The funds, to be used by the end of 2026, were federally granted to municipalities to recoup from economic losses during the pandemic.

Rohloff outlined the possible uses of the funds, including:

- Deal with economic impacts caused by COVID-19 with assistance to households and small businesses; assist nonprofits and impacted industries, including tourism.
- Replace lost revenue to the public sector.
- Provide premium pay for eligible essential workers.
- Invest in water, sewer, stormwater and broadband infrastructure.

The June 17, 21 and 23 listening sessions brought forward several ideas from nonprofit groups and residents.

Of topmost concern among those who spoke was homelessness. Bill Wyman of the Oshkosh Area Community Foundation expressed concern with several factors and asked Rohloff and the Common

Edible cannabis short on warnings

Therapeutic, other uses require level of judgment

By Joseph Schulz
HERALD CONTRIBUTOR

While parents may be familiar with "pot brownies" – marijuana baked into a cake recipe – from their youth, today's edibles are much different as they often can look like name-brand candies, which has caused concern among parents.

Over the last 10 years, there's been an evolution in the cannabis industry beyond the dried flower product to more concen-

As the marijuana industry has evolved, the drug has become more potent over time. Place says the marijuana of today has a 15 percent concentration of THC, which is roughly 10 percent higher than the marijuana of the 1960s.

"It's not the Woodstock weed of the 1960s," he said.

Beyond increased potency, Place says marijuana edibles are one of the biggest emerging markets for THC products.

"Soccer moms that don't want to smoke weed are jumping into the edible market because they don't have to pollute their

Give kids a clear path back to school

This August will look vastly different from last as students look forward to being in the classroom full time.

Last year tested the endurance of many families, students and educators; but it also took a financial toll on community resources as they pivoted to provide for our area students. One community resource that did everything they could to meet the unusual student needs of a COVID year was the Oshkosh-Winneconne Back to School Fair, a community resource established in 1998.

The Oshkosh Herald has partnered with the fair since 2018, but they have been assisting youth since 1998 when they provided 50 youth with back-to-school items. They have seen the need increase over the years and now assist more than 1,000 youths every year by providing backpacks, clothing, hygiene items, haircuts, and age-appropriate school supplies.

This year the volunteers at the BTSF are grateful for grants from the Oshkosh Area Community Foundation Carl Ives fund and the United Way of Oshkosh, but they are facing a financial shortfall to have enough supplies for this year's fair being held Aug. 11-13 at Oshkosh North High School. As one committee member shared with me, "We ran through our money due to COVID, so we really need some monetary help to keep going."

Last year Herald readers raised more than $9,000 through our Kicks for Kids campaign for the Back-to-School Fair. This year's goal is $12,500 to help bridge the gap in resources.

If you can support this initiative, please find information on how to donate in today's Oshkosh Herald on Page 4.

Hearing set on sturgeon spearing rules

The state Department of Natural Resources (DNR) will host a public hearing July 8 to discuss a scope statement that relates to the sturgeon spearing harvest regulations and the use of technology during the Winnebago System season.

This preliminary hearing will allow the public to comment on the general topics that the rule may encompass. Only the proposed scope statement will be discussed and the DNR will offer additional input opportunities once a rule is under development.

Members of the public who wish to speak at the hearing are encouraged to preregister. Go to dnr.wi.gov for details on viewing and participating in the Zoom meeting.

Future rules may consider the use of technology such as underwater cameras, electronic fish finders and other devices during the sturgeon spearing season.

This scope statement was developed after public discussion on the use of technology in the Winnebago sturgeon spearing fishery, including public surveys in 2013 and 2018, two Wisconsin Conservation Congress Spring Hearing questions in 2019 and a discussion by the Winnebago Citizen Sturgeon Advisory Committee.

Lifest brings its spirit back to Sunnyview

Lifest returns to the Sunnyview Expo Center grounds for its festival of music and ministry July 8-11 that began at that location in 1999 after having to cancel last year's event during the pandemic.

Called "A Party with a Purpose," Lifest is one of the nation's largest Christian music festivals and put on by the nonprofit organization Life Promotions, led by founder and president Bob Lenz.

This year's lineup of Christian music includes Matthew West, Newsboys United, Skillet, Matt Maher, Crowder, Zach Williams, Sidewalk Prophets, Jordan Feliz, Big Daddy Weave, Social Club Misfits, Disciple and Ledger. There is also a schedule of speakers and seminars throughout the four-day event.

Festival details, including camping and ticket information, are at lifest.com/Oshkosh.

Child care centers navigate altered operations

Family needs change with pandemic impact

By Kaitlyn Scoville
OSHKOSH HERALD

When the COVID-19 pandemic first hit in early 2020, employees and students alike were being sent home for the safety of themselves and others around them.

However, some remained working on-site and child care facilities were left to navigate their own operational struggles with staying open at a limited capacity. Oftentimes overlooked, local day care underdogs are now being recognized for the work they've done so parents can support their families.

Ciera Cramer has worked at her parents' business since 2007 and became director in 2013. Chiemsee Castle, 4055 State 91, had to cut its tuition costs in half when it had to downsize to 25 percent capacity.

The year started out great for Chiemsee Castle at near-capacity. When everything closed they were down to 13 students.

Arts for Kids owner Beth Caramanidis was patiently waiting for what news would come once COVID began.

"When we got news that they were closing down Oshkosh public schools in March, we thought, 'OK, now what happens?'"

Shortly thereafter, the Department of Children and Family Services notified Caramanidis its capacity had been cut down.

"We had to decide who were considered essential workers and who weren't," she said. "We went through our list of parents and we let them know we were going to be available for them – we weren't going to shut down but running with just 50 kids."

While Caramanidis had to lay off some of her employees, Cramer said she was able to avoid that at Chiemsee.

The girls were really good about taking turns: A lot of them had children so they were fine being off, Cramer explained. Caramanidis said the teachers she had to let go were volunteers and were generally OK with the decision.

Both Arts for Kids and Chiemsee Castle received federal and state funding to aid their operations during the pandemic. But things went back to near normal around June last year, according to Cramer.

"It was hard to get (back) up because a lot of families still didn't need day care: They were either working from home or were laid off. It was a struggle for them too but now we're finally (close to capacity again)," she said.

Chiemsee Castle assistant director Angel Kikendall said she wasn't sure they'd be staying afloat right now if it wasn't for government funding. Now that society is moving back to business as usual again, things aren't as tense anymore.

"I feel like more businesses are picking up now that shots are out and things are getting lifted," Kikendall said. "There's more demand for work so they don't really have time to watch their kids or stay at home."

However, now that people are trying to go back to work, Caramanidis has taken note of the lack of child care facilities in Oshkosh and Winnebago counties. Her wait list has never been this long.

But while life moved onward adapting to the new climate, Caramanidis, Cramer and Kikendall all say they've received far more recognition than ever.

Care centers

Cramer said she's noticed state governments trying to be more active with day care centers to pay their employees a more livable wage.

"When COVID hit, the state finally recognized us as educators," Cramer said. "It's not just baby-sitting - we're educating young minds and shaping them for the future."

Childcare Resource and Referral sent care packages with snacks, personal protection equipment, and other sanitation supplies and resources.

"It's such an important job - we're developing them and getting them ready for education - and sometimes I don't think people take that as seriously as they should," Kikendall said.

Caramanidis said their efforts to stay on the front burner had not gone unnoticed.

"People don't realize how much they need child care," she explained. "Without it, there would be no business. It makes people aware that our staff is really paid at a poverty level for the important work we do here."

And even though some parents are still working from home, Caramanidis said there's still room for child care. She and Chiemsee Castle have seen tremendous support from the community.

"It made us closer as a group because we were working with parents who were just as frightened to send their child to a public location as we were to have people coming in and out of our door every day," she said.

"We made it through and we're stronger because of it."

United Way works with Emerging Leaders group

Oshkosh Area United Way recently kicked off its 2021/2022 Emerging Leaders program with a special invite event. The group will be focusing on impact areas that support nonprofit and volunteer organizations along with their own personal and professional goals. Some of those areas:

- Mental health: In the Oshkosh area, there is a growing need to support mental health and programs that connect residents to health and human services, provide healing and crisis intervention and promote positive social relationships.

- Childhood development: Expanding and providing access to high-quality child care and education through programs that provide parents and children with tools to encourage early childhood development and overall school and career readiness.

- Steps toward a living wage: Programs that improve skills to successfully gain employment, reduce transportation barriers, and provide basic needs.

This year Oshkosh Area United Way is funding 38 programs from 22 organizations aimed at meeting the needs of the community.

Oshkosh Area United Way is continuing to add to this leadership group, which is recommended for professionals under age 40 who give $500 or more to the United Way campaign and are looking to grow in their profession and their impact.

Declaration reading set at courthouse

July 4th marks the 245th birthday of United States. On that day, leading citizens of the 13 British colonies met in Philadelphia and signed a document declaring freedom from British rule.

To commemorate this event, the Winnebago County Board of Supervisors has asked Sheriff John Matz to read the Declaration of Independence at 8 a.m. Sunday from the steps of the courthouse at Jackson Street and Algoma Boulevard.

When the Declaration was signed, the challenge was to inform citizens by printing broadsides, having clergy preach from their pulpits and sheriffs asked to read the document in their respective counties.

School district staff wage increases approved

By Kaitlyn Scoville
OSHKOSH HERALD

The Oshkosh Area School District's Board of Education approved a 1.23 percent base wage increase for district staff, effective for the 2021-22 academic year.

However, this will exclude administrators, supervisors, managers, directors, assistant directors, intern teachers, substitute teachers and paraprofessionals.

Board vice president Barb Herzog thanked all employee groups who helped the district make these increases feasible, such as the Oshkosh Education Association, Oshkosh Paraprofessional Education Association, the Non-Teaching Education Association and the International Alliance of Theatrical Stagehand Employees.

Stipends were also added for some account clerks, clerical staff, maintenance and building custodians at each high school, and a $2 hourly raise for food service employees – all to be starting July 1 through June 30, 2022.

"We all know this has been a very difficult 16 months under the cloud of COVID-19, and I think this is one way we convey to our staff how much we appreciate the extra effort that has gone into the work each one of them has done to make sure our students are successful," Herzog said.

The district will also continue to offer its free meals through this summer and keep meal prices the same as last year for all grade levels and adults for the 2021-22 school year.

FVTC Riverside contract

The board went forward with adding another class session to the Fox Valley Technical College Riverside campus contract after more than 10 years of partnership.

Its program is for students who may not be well suited to a traditional high school setting to have a clear path to graduation while preparing for coursework and programs at FVTC.

The Riverside contract will have four sections – two morning and two afternoon. Each section can have up to 14 students. Costs per student includes 15 hours per week for 34 weeks at $13.82 per hour, which was increased from last year's $12.67.

Superintendent onboarding

Board president Bob Poeschl has plans to introduce incoming Superintendent Bryan Davis to the community and is seeking recommendations from other board members and residents for people to meet as representatives of several functions in the city.

To instill a continued growth and connection with the area, Poeschl hopes to have meet-and-greets for Davis with students, parents, residents and other community leaders.

Poeschl is also looking to improve evaluation processes for both the superintendent and the board over the next several months.

Through the Policy and Governance Committee and continued conversation among the group, Poeschl, Herzog and Davis, there is potential for ratification of these evaluation processes.

Poeschl said the success of the board and superintendent will ultimately result in the success of students, "growing our community as a progressive, favorable one that enjoys a strong education."

He hopes to have these evaluation processes complete and in place by early fall.

Cartwright recognized

Though absent, Vickie Cartwright was given recognition for her accomplishments as superintendent for the past three years.

With Davis coming in at the board's next meeting, Herzog took a moment to reflect on what Cartwright has done, noting her integrative systems framework for equity.

"When we say all students in our district are educated, we mean all of them," she said.

With Cartwright's addition of a long-range facilities committee, the board adopted a four-tier approach to facilities planning – which included the largest referendum in district history to consolidate and build new facilities.

"Our students and families will benefit for decades to come," Herzog said.

FVTC administrator selected as its new president

The Fox Valley Technical College board of trustees approved the selection of Chris Matheny, FVTC's executive vice president for instruction and chief academic officer, as the school's next president.

Matheny will assume his new role Aug. 1 as the seventh president of FVTC and succeeding Susan May, who will retire July 31 after a 38-year tenure with the college, 13 of them as president.

"Our goal in this search was to find a dynamic leader who recognizes the importance of meeting the needs of our diverse student population, and can strategically collaborate with the business sector to serve the needs of our local workforce," said board chair Patty Van Ryzin. "We are confident Dr. Matheny is that leader."

Matheny has more than 25 years of instructional and administrative experience in higher education, with 17 of those years at FVTC with responsibility for executing strategic initiatives.

"I am excited to continue to work with our talented faculty and staff as well as all of our community partners," Matheny said. "Fox Valley Technical College will continue to provide our region with the talent necessary to keep our entire region a great place to work, live, and play."

Matheny earned a doctorate in educational leadership and policy analysis from the University of Wisconsin, a master of business administration with a concentration in organization and management from Illinois Institute of Technology in Chicago, and a bachelor's degree in psychology from DePaul University.

"I can't imagine being anywhere else. Fox Valley Technical College is such a critical part of the communities we serve," Matheny said. "It really is a privilege to continue this legacy of service through education as the college's next president."

Van Ryzin said he "is dedicated to our mission, connected to our region, and able to sustain and reinforce a culture that fully utilizes the talents of our entire organization."

Council member operates on equity principle

By Kaitlyn Scoville
OSHKOSH HERALD

“This is where I want to be; I want to work there one day,” was what Common Council member Aaron Wojciechowski thought when he toured Wisconsin’s Capitol in middle school.

“But wait – I’m gay.”

In his mind, Wojciechowski didn’t think he could run for office as a member of the LGBTQ community but still was inspired by their work.

“I’ve always been drawn to leadership roles and wanting to help people,” he said. “For me, politics and government was the way I can make change on a small but also big level. I can do so much on my own but there’s so many things you can do for others through policy and advocating.”

Since that day in Madison, Wojciechowski pursued his dreams of being a public official despite the conflict in his mind of possibly being unable to land a government job because of his sexuality.

“One of the reasons why I got into politics was because of how easy it was for me, and I know for a majority of the people it’s not that easy,” he said.

With a strong support network, he has been openly gay since high school. When he began college at the University of Wisconsin Oshkosh, he didn’t feel the need to bring it up unless someone else did – they either knew or didn’t need to.

“I have to use my platform and my voice to make sure that it is easy for people who come after me. If you’re able to do that, why wouldn’t you want everyone else to have the same experience?”

The deep-rooted fear – that because of how he identifies, he couldn’t live the life he always dreamt of – turned into his strength.

He didn’t have someone to talk to about his sexuality growing up, so he used the internet to explore what the community was like.

One of his inspirations to keep pursuing a political career was learning about Tammy Baldwin, the first openly gay senator in the nation. When he met her, he told her how much her being out has pushed him to keep going.

“She’s one of my idols and biggest inspirations, and the fact that she’s the first openly gay person to serve in the Senate and she’s from Wisconsin of all places, it’s amazing,” Wojciechowski said. “If she can do it, I can too.”

After having served on the Winnebago County Board of Supervisors from 2016-2020, his next steps brought him to serve as a member of Oshkosh’s Common Council after winning a seat in April.

On the county board, he was among the few people of color and, to his knowledge, the only openly gay one out of its 36 officials. The same holds for him on the Common Council as the only openly gay member of the group.

One of the advisory boards he specifically requested to be on was the Diversity, Equity and Inclusion (DEI) Committee.

A proclamation is not enough to recognize and advocate for pride month, Wojciechowski said. Mayor Lori Palmeri issued one earlier this month to formally recognize it in the city – its second one ever.

“Symbolic resolutions are still important because they set the tone and environment,” he said. “At least we’re telling people it’s a welcoming community, that we see you and support you. But there is definitely more to be done.”

He said he plans to use his position on council and the DEI committee to educate the public and have conversations about topics that may make some uncomfortable.

“I’ve learned that a lot of older folks – though not their fault – grew up in a time where they never learned about these things,” he said. “It’s so far ahead now that they don’t know where to start. This needs to happen and we need to do something about it.”

He said he would like to see conversion therapy banned in the city. In March, the Legislature passed a bill that Gov. Tony Evers countered with an executive order that would have allowed therapists, counselors and social workers to continue to try to change gay and transgender people’s sexual orientation.

It happens secretly under “rehabilitation camps” or other shielded names, he explained, noting the difficulty to tackle the issue unless it’s at a national level.

“It’s inhumane and archaic. It’s eye-opening when you break it down to the basics of what they’re doing – they’re trying to change someone’s sexuality,” he said. “If we had a straight conversion therapy, people would be up in arms, but because it’s happening to gay people it’s OK.”

“Even if there isn’t specifically anything happening in Oshkosh, I think it’s important for the symbolic reason saying we see that this is an issue and we are supportive to get rid of it, and maybe convince other communities and eventually the state to do something.”

Wojciechowski also plans to use his governmental ability to fill the inclusive gaps in policies that go through their agendas to ensure they don’t get left behind.

“When I was on the county board, something that we got passed was including gender identity and gender expression in our affirmative action plan,” he said. “I wanted to make sure that if you’re transgender and you’re being harassed by someone for that fact, you have recourse to hold that person accountable.”

Through his work, he is inspired to look at each policy through the lens of diversity and inclusion and noted that these additions cannot be made without considering one’s unique experience.

The DEI committee is among the largest boards and commissions in the city, which Wojciechowski thinks can pursue initiatives not just geared toward racial equity. But no matter what, Wojciechowski remembers why he got into politics: to help others.

“I got an email from someone in Winnebago County but not in my district. They said, ‘I want to let you know, I’m in the closet but I really appreciate the work you do. It inspires me that someone is openly gay, advocating and fighting for us.’

“Things like that are always inspiring me, even on my most defeated days. This is why I’m doing it and it makes me feel happy.”

Having been able to grow up authentically has allowed him to be authentic in his work, and the community is noticing this change.

“We’re moving in a direction where people want to see diversity,” he said. “To people who ever feel like that might be a crutch – no. That is exactly what we need in our politics and society is starting to reflect it.”

South Carolina site will produce new mail truck

Oshkosh Herald

Oshkosh Defense, a subsidiary of Oshkosh Corp., announced its plans to repurpose an existing facility in Spartanburg, S.C., to manufacture the U.S. Postal Service’s Next Generation Delivery Vehicle (NGDV).

The USPS selected Oshkosh Defense for the multibillion-dollar NGDV contract in February at the end of a competitive process that began in 2015. These vehicles will replace the existing fleet of delivery vehicles, many of which have been in service for more than 30 years.

“Oshkosh’s winning solution will provide a modern fleet of both zero-emission battery electric vehicles (BEV) and fuel-efficient low-emission internal combustion engine (ICE) vehicles, with the option of producing any combination of models,” the Oshkosh Defense release states.

The company expects to hire more than 1,000 local team members at the Spartanburg facility, and on-site supply chain partners are expected to have additional hiring needs.

Defense plans to revamp an expansive warehouse facility in Spartanburg with features needed to accommodate a large-scale manufacturing operation that meets the technical requirements of producing the modernized USPS vehicles.

Production of the NGDVs is expected to begin in summer 2023.

City moves forward on housing, water projects

By Kaitlyn Scoville
OSHKOSH HERALD

The Common Council convened last week with several updates for working aspects around the city, including apartment expansions, water system bond grants and retirements.

The council passed two ordinances for expansion at Ruger Run Apartments at 2750 Minerva St. Two eight-unit buildings were constructed around 2008 and coding requirements were updated in 2017.

Proposing the residential properties in two ordinances was described as a unique solution to work around the coding requirements of the two time periods. The addition to the property in question will include a 16-unit, multifamily residential property with adequate recreational space.

Two bonds were also given to bidders to improve, add, extend, renew or replace water and sewer systems in Oshkosh.

KeyBanc Capital of Cleveland was selected to work on the water systems, and The Baker Group of Oklahoma City was chosen to work on the sewer systems.

The water systems bond was placed at $5,970,000 and sewer systems at $14,815,000, both to be paid off over a span of 20 years. No timeline has been set for project dates.

The retirement of Community Development Director Allen Davis after 11 years leading the city's redevelopment, planning and rental inspection programs, among other duties, was noted at the meeting. He announced that his last day working for the city will be July 9, which also is the last day for residents to fill out American Rescue Plan Act fund recommendation forms found on the city's website.

Lt. Greg Stelter has been promoted to battalion chief of the B shift at the Oshkosh Fire Department after longstanding Chief Mark Boettcher announced his retirement after more than 15 years in that position.

Blue Door earns Communicator Awards

The Oshkosh-based marketing firm Blue Door Consulting earned a dozen 2021 Communicator Awards in an international competition sponsored by the Academy of Interactive & Visual Arts.

The competition honors work that has a lasting impact in a variety of categories. Blue Door earned three Awards of Excellence and nine Awards of Distinction for digital branded content, marketing effectiveness for integrated campaign, branding, corporate communications, video and website development.

"To be recognized by peers is an honor," co-founder and consultant Brenda Haines said. "To know that we've been able to collaborate with clients to get results that are recognized by peers, that is truly powerful. We are grateful for the partnerships that make this possible."

Lourdes remodel in works

Oshkosh Herald

Lourdes Academy announced a “One by One” campaign to combine an elementary, middle and high school into one location.

In partnership with the Most Blessed Sacrament, St. Jude the Apostle and St. Raphael the Archangel, funding efforts are underway to expand the high school to accommodate students of all grade levels.

At an estimated cost of $5.1 million, the high school addition could include 11 new classrooms, a faculty lounge and new administrative space, as well as improved parking and stormwater solutions.

The elementary school addition – at $2.5 million – includes a new playground, updated administrative offices, enhanced fine arts facilities and a new cafe and workshop space. And $2.1 million of general building improvements would include a remodeling of the HVAC system, classrooms, security, lighting and the exterior.

A demolition of storage units and maintenance facilities would also be required for the project.

As laid out on Lourdes’ Facebook page, high school students would move into the new wing and middle school students would be relocated to the second floor of the current high school. Furthermore, the elementary school addition with the cafe and workshop space will have a separate entrance.

“Thanks to the support of Bishop David Ricken and the Green Bay Diocese, 100 percent of the funds raised in the One by One campaign will remain in Oshkosh,” it states on the Lourdes campaign page. “Lourdes is developing the next generation of religious and lay leaders.

“Together Lourdes Academy and the Oshkosh parishes are working to grow the Catholic faith in the community.”

Aquatic invasives targeted

The Fox-Wolf Watershed Alliance is joining an international effort to prevent the spread of aquatic invasive species this weekend with the annual Landing Blitz campaign running Thursday through Monday.

Clean Boats, Clean Waters boat inspectors and educators will meet boaters at lake and river launches to remind them that taking simple prevention steps can play a role in stopping the spread of invasive species like zebra mussels and starry stonewort.

Basic recommendations are to take time to remove plants, animals, mud and debris from boats and trailer and equipment while draining water from the bilge, fish buckets and live wells. Surveys of Wisconsin boaters show that most perform these actions nearly every time they are on the water.

For the third year, Wisconsin’s campaigns are aligned with the Great Lakes Region Landing Blitz where about 300 CBCW launches have been included.

Following the proper steps ensures boaters comply with state law, which prohibits the transport of aquatic invasive species. Details are at DNR.wi.gov.

Sentencing set in baby’s death

Oshkosh Herald

An Oshkosh man will be sentenced in late August in the death of a 10-month-old baby under his care.

Freddy Colon was charged in 2019 with first-degree reckless homicide for the Dec. 9, 2018, death of a child who was the son of a woman he was renting a room from.

According to the criminal complaint, Colon initially said he found the child face down and called the mother. He was taken to a hospital and died three days later.

A CT exam at the hospital revealed evidence of child abuse with bleeding behind the right eye and bruises on the brain.

“The autopsy showed that (the child) suffered such a severe injury to the head that his brain swelled to the point that it fractured his skull between the plates,” the complaint reads. “(The) injuries (he) sustained would have immediately impaired his ability to function.”

The 36-year-old pled no contest in mid-June to neglecting a child with the consequence of death. The charge was reduced from a reckless homicide charge as part of the plea deal.

Tourism promotion ideas shared

Oshkosh Herald

The city’s Convention & Visitor’s Bureau recently hired an internationally known tourism expert to conduct a destination assessment to determine key areas of improvement.

Roger Brooks, a tourism and downtown specialist, identified several opportunities, according to bureau executive director Amy Albright, to enhance tourism, improve the quality of life and attract people to Oshkosh.

Brooks suggested improving the way-finding signage in the city, creating a multiuse gathering space in the downtown for year-round programming and boosting curb appeal, as told in City Manager Mark Rohloff’s recent newsletter.

Albright will present further findings at the July 13 Common Council meeting.

Electric boat startup offers Fox River tours

Oshkosh Herald

A new electric boat business is starting in partnership with Aaron Armstrong's Venture Oshkosh this summer, offering eco-friendly tours on the Fox River and surrounding community.

Elektra Cruise is chartering boat rides with its low-noise, battery-powered Sun Cruiser that has also partnered with Fox River Brewing to offer dining packages.

Capt. Susan Williams Everhard and Bob Everhard came to Oshkosh from Florida after having experienced too many hurricanes to pursue their dreams.

Susan, an Oshkosh native, grew up working at the Williams family business – the Fox River Marina. She met Bob in Miami Beach, where they owned a large yacht charter fleet and brokerage on Miami's South Beach, the Florida Keys and Bahamas for 25 years.

For more information, visit elektra-cruise.com or call 844-386-7861.

Another business partnered with Venture Oshkosh is expanding their bridal-on-the-go business into downtown Oshkosh.

Starstruck Artistry, founded in 2018 by Jennifer Frees, moved her boutique to continue pursuing her love for event styling.

"We take the stress out of your special day," it states on their website. "Our on-demand beauty services allow you to relax and enjoy every second of your day."

Frees got into the beauty industry more than a decade ago, starting at A Cut Above Salon under salon owner Mary Kohlbeck and has taken her passion to the next level.

To set up an appointment, visit starstruckartistry.com or call 920-642-1555.

was expected to begin his return home today and had purchased his ticket only yesterday. The cause of death is believed to have been Apoplexy and Merrill was known to have been the subject of Epilepsy. His death was sudden and unexpected as he was reportedly in good health prior to his departure. Acting Mayor John Mulva issued a proclamation of respect requesting all flags on display in the city be lowered to half mast.

Paine opens expansive shoe exhibit

A new exhibition at the Paine Art Center and Gardens explores how shoes have transcended their utilitarian purpose to become representations of culture.

On view through Oct. 10 in the Main Gallery, "Walk This Way: Footwear from the Stuart Weitzman Collection of Historic Shoes" highlights 100 pairs from the designer's private collection, assembled over three decades with his wife, Jane Gershon Weitzman.

First presented in 2018 by the New-York Historical Society, the exhibition was described by the Wall Street Journal's Laura Jacobs, "Nimble and often glittering, the show encapsulates the evolution of women's shoes over the past 180 years – and also speaks to the history of shoemaking in America. It is a delight at every turn ..."

The exhibition considers the story of the shoe from the perspectives of collection, consumption, presentation and production. Walk This Way is coordinated by Valerie Paley, New-York Historical's vice president, chief historian and director of the Center for Women's History.

Among the highlights are shoes of historic value such as a pair of pink silk embroidered boudoir shoes created especially for the 1867 Paris Universal Exposition that reflected Western consumers' clamor for "exotic" textiles in an era of European imperial expansion.

Iconic footwear from the collection of Stuart Weitzman will be featured at the Paine Art Center in an exhibit running through Oct. 10.

The exhibition also includes brass and bronze shoe buckles from a Revolutionary War officer's shoes (1760-83) that were excavated in Washington Heights, and a pair of leather child's shoes (ca. 1904) that were recovered from a victim of the General Slocum steamship fire.

Walk This Way also explores the process of shoemaking, examining shoe production and the role of women in the footwear field—one of the first industries to embrace large-scale mechanization.

Support for the exhibition is provided by the Kaldas Center and The Howard.

lungs,” he said. “They can have that marijuana edible, which has that psychotropic effect, that high, that they’re looking for without having to smoke it.”

The way the body processes marijuana edibles is different from the way the body processes inhaling THC, according to Dr. Eric Smiltneek, an addiction specialist at Aurora Medical Center.

There is a receptor in the brain called the endocannabinoid system that doctors are still researching but is stimulated by marijuana use and can produce calming effects, pain relief and happy feelings, Smiltneek said.

Smoking marijuana produces the quickest onset and offset of effects, while edibles come on slower and the effects last longer, Smiltneek explained.

“There are hundreds – maybe even thousands – of different strains of marijuana that fit into a few key buckets,” he said. “What the different strains do is tend to be greater effects of different things, so some are more calming, some are more excited to make people feel better and give more of that happy feeling. Then some seem to do a little bit better job of numbing pain.”

Place says he has seen instances where edibles are more psychoactive than smoking THC because it comes on slower, and individuals tend to take more because they’re used to the quick effects from inhaling THC.

“We get quite a few EMS calls where someone took a marijuana edible and they didn’t feel the effects right away that they would from smoking it, so they take more,” Place said. “Then, an hour later, it starts to hit them and then they start to hallucinate with high blood pressure, high pulses and they start to freak out.”

The commercial edibles differ from homemade pot brownies or cookies in that they do not taste like marijuana and can often come in brightly colored packaging. In the process of making THC candies, Place said the terpenes, which give marijuana its odor, have been removed.

“I bought some Delta-8 (THC) gummies and sent them off for testing and you couldn’t even smell marijuana,” Place said. “It smelled like a fruity candy.”

The candylike appearance and colorful packaging have caused concern among some parents and health advocates.

At the same time, as states start allowing the sale of marijuana for recreational purposes, it coincides with an uptick in emergency room visits by children who have ingested THC-laced edibles, according to the American Association of Poison Control Centers.

Samantha Hilker, Winnebago County community health strategist and Drug-Free Communities coordinator for the Breakwater Drug and Alcohol Coalition, says the colorful packaging and fruity flavors in edibles are forms of marketing directed toward youth.

“We know that price and promotion are a huge issue when it comes to youth engaging in substance use whether it’s alcohol, marijuana or anything else,” she said.

Her advice to parents is to look twice at a package of candy they may find in their child’s room or backpack because it may not be Sour Patch Kids.

Because marijuana remains federally illegal, it’s hard to monitor how much THC someone may be consuming.

“People seem to have a lower perception of harm when it comes to edibles, where you may not be somebody who would go and smoke marijuana in the traditional sense – you’re not going to roll a joint and smoke marijuana – but you may feel that you know eating a gummy bear or a piece of chocolate or a pot brownie may be less harmful,” she said. “It does affect the body differently and a lot of this stuff is still federally illegal, so the regulation is in a gray area.”

“They can tell you how much is in a gummy bear, but if you eat part of that gummy bear or the whole gummy bear, you don’t necessarily know exactly how much you’re getting, and how it will affect your body.”

Future UWO student wins business model pitch

By Laurie Schlosser
UW OSHKOSH TODAY

An Oshkosh West student's idea for technology improvements in the real estate industry topped pitches from 12 teams in the recent University of Wisconsin Oshkosh Wisconsin High School Business Model Competition.

Benjamin Busha of West High School won with Neway REI, a startup designed to give real estate investors a competitive edge. He took home an $8,000 scholarship toward his education at UW Oshkosh and will begin studies in entrepreneurship in the fall.

"The event was a very special day for me, and I am glad UWO hosted it," Busha said.

The 12 teams were invited May 22 to the UWO campus to compete for $15,000 in UWO scholarship awards and cash prizes.

Second place went to a team promoting Commah, an alternative product from the common chemical used in air fresheners. The team created an all-natural air freshener with just five ingredients that are found in nature.

Third place was awarded to American Maker, creator of customizable signs and card stands.

Busha said he developed an interest in real estate late last year and he started to realize that the industry was not keeping up with the latest technology. In addition, he found services offered had "little to no ROI (return on investment)."

Busha's first attempt to remedy the situation was not successful. He said he then reached out to a couple of successful businesses in different industries. He paid them hourly to learn systems and processes on how to implement a sustainable business model. It was expensive, he said, but well worth it.

Based on what he learned, he put together a system that was well-received and was a hit with real estate agents.

Busha continues to explore avenues to create more of a SaaS (Software as a service) model and how to raise capital.

"This was the first year we hosted the competition and the plan is to host it again in spring 2022," said Dan Brosman, executive director of UWO's Alta Resources Center for Entrepreneurship and Innovation. Submissions came from high schools across Wisconsin with sophomores, juniors and seniors competing for scholarship prizes to UW Oshkosh.

Submissions, Brosman said, ranged from new ideas to existing businesses already generating small amounts of revenue. Business types covered many industries, from restaurants to high-tech solutions.

"I was impressed with the creativity and maturity of the students engaged this year," Brosman said.

Council to consider them before giving funds to one specific organization.

Bob Poeschl, who spoke both as a resident and a representative of Covey, and Beth Oswald, Christine Ann executive director, spoke to homelessness as well.

Oswald expressed a need for funding to work on domestic violence and other losses due to shelters staying open to serve victims.

Poeschl spoke about Covey's plan to soon implement family homes for adults with developmental and intellectual disabilities, noting their struggle with isolation for the past year.

Deb Martin, member of the Advisory Parks Board, stated the need for inner-city parks, which is in line with their recently revised multiyear park plan.

"We have great parks in Oshkosh but we don't have enough," she said.

Rohloff took note of everything discussed at the three sessions but also encouraged speakers to fill out the citizen input Polco survey and nonprofit online application at ci.oshkosh.wi.us.

He also said the process will remain open-ended for the council to look at, considering any urgent or long-term needs.

"We don't know the impacts of COVID because they're still being felt," he said.

Despite this, Rohloff said he gives close value to every person's comment for the betterment of the community.

"A hundred years from now, our kids – our great-grandchildren – are going to be paying for this with their federal taxes," Rohloff said. "When they're paying their bills, let's make sure there's something they can say, 'This made an impact on our community.'"

Applications and Polco responses are due by July 9.

Pinwheels for awareness

Winnebago County Executive Jon Doemel and the county's Adult Protective Services specialists marked World Elder Abuse Awareness Day by signing a proclamation earlier this month in observance of abuse prevention efforts. The Human Services department displayed pinwheels outside the Human Services Department in recognition of elder abuse incidents reported in the county in 2020.

Blaskowski leads West to No. 2 in WIAA finals

Oshkosh Herald

Oshkosh West senior Sam Blaskowski dominated the sprint races at last weekend's WIAA Division 1 state track & field championships in La Crosse and added a state title in the long jump as well.

He and his teammates combined to give the Wildcats a second-place finish Saturday at Veterans Memorial Stadium behind Arrowhead and ahead of third-place Kimberly. The West boys led all 15 teams at this sectional in Hartford the previous week.

Blaskowski won the 100-meter event with a time of 10.83, the only one under 11 seconds in both the preliminaries and finals. He took the 200-meter championship with a time of 22.22.

He won the long jump title with a leap of 23 feet, 5.75 inches, edging Max McQuide of Marquette High School by an inch.

Blaskowski also anchored a second-place finish for West in the 400-meter relay along with teammates Riley Taylor, Blake Langlitz and Ja'siah Williams with the time of 43.28. North had a No. 17 finish in the event with the relay team of Sam Schamens, Milan Stojilovic, Hunter Carlson and Lyndon Hemmrich Hartman.

The Wildcats' 800-meter relay team of Williams, Taylor, Olufunsho Akinleye and Jacob Larson placed 15th.

Oshkosh North junior Devin Williams took 14th in the 100-meter preliminaries with a time of 11.33.

In other field events, North junior Cole Spanbauer placed eighth in the high jump and teammate Julien Harden tied for 13th.

In the girls' Division 1 state finals, North senior Maria Falk placed seventh in the shot put and 13th in the discus.

Lourdes, VC compete in D3

Lourdes Academy's Gavin Gresser took second place in the long jump in the WIAA Division 3 finals Thursday with a leap of 22 feet, 1.5 inches.

Peyton Kane of Lourdes placed 13th in the 3,200-meter race at 10:45.33.

Will Pollack took 11th in the 100-meter final while the Lourdes team was No. 34.

Valley Christian senior Elijah Wade finished ninth in the 1,600 meters with a time of 4:41.73. He also picked up a 12th place in the 3,200 meters at 10:40.09.

For the Lourdes girls, the 800 relay team of Mackenzie Havlik, Mary Husman, Olivia Nielsen and Mackenzie Stelter placed 13th, while the 1600 relay (Husman, Havlik, Nielsen, Stelter,) also took 13th.

Herd head coach headed to Australia

Wisconsin Herd head coach Chase Buford has been named head coach of the Sydney Kings of the National Basketball League in Australia.

In his lone season with the Herd, Buford led Wisconsin to a league-best 33-10 record before the season was suspended due to the pandemic. Buford was named G League Coach of the Month in January 2020, and three Herd players earned NBA call-ups during his stint.

"Chase is a widely respected coach and has shown a special ability to develop players both on and off the court," said Paul Smith, Sydney Kings owner and chairman. "His proven success, leadership, communication skills and basketball intellect make him the right fit to lead our team into the future."

Buford thanked the Herd and Milwaukee Bucks organization for the opportunity to begin his career as a head coach in Oshkosh.

"I am so appreciative of the belief and trust they showed in me and my staff," Buford said. "I'd like to thank Steve Brandes and the Herd organization for all their hard work making Oshkosh and Menominee Nation Arena the best atmosphere in the G League."

West falls to Beaver Dam in softball sectional finals

By Dustin Riese
HERALD CONTRIBUTOR

Getting to the sectional final round of competition hasn't been an issue for Oshkosh West in recent seasons but making it to state has been the challenge.

After seeing their season end in the sectional final each of the last two playoff runs, the Wildcats faced a young Beaver Dam squad that defeated them earlier in the season. The typically high-powered Wildcats offense was held in check as Beaver Dam won 3-1.

"It's funny how this sectional final game has eluded us the past three seasons," head coach Tim Kohl said. "If we have all facets of the game working for us we can beat anybody. Today we struggled defensively and offensively. Their pitchers did a nice job keeping us off the bases and their defense made some nice plays to back it up."

In a matchup that pegged Audriana Edwards against Tatum Duff, runs would be hard to come by as both had tremendous seasons. Beaver Dam was able to strike immediately in the first when Gabriella Fakes reached base on error before advancing to third on a sacrifice bunt. With two outs and Fakes still standing on third, Ginny Bryant ripped a single off Duff to push across the game's first.

Looking to get over a rough inning in the field, Abigail Curtis reached base on a dropped third strike to start the inning before being left stranded at third. Leaving runners on base was the theme of the night for West as they had plenty of chances to break through.

Fakes led off Beaver Dam in the third with a single before advancing to second on another sacrifice. With two outs, a West error allowed Ginny Bryant to reach base and brought Fakes home.

Beaver Dam was more than up for the task of working in and out of trouble. In desperate need of a run, West's Brianna Bougie led the bottom of the third off with a single before advancing to second on a Curtis single. Unfortunately, both runners would be left stranded.

Beaver Dam had the bases loaded in the top of the fourth but a couple of key pitches from Duff with some strong defense allowed the Wildcats to escape without further damage keeping things at 2-0.

It took four innings for the Wildcats to finally solve Edwards in the circle. Consecutive walks to Taylor Emery and Laina Hammen had the Wildcats in business with no outs. After a strikeout to Briann Kitchen, West loaded the bases with a Chloe Tritt walk and Emery came home on a passed ball to pull West within a run.

Bougie came on in relief of Duff in the fifth inning, retiring Beaver Dam in order and working out of a sixth-inning jam to keep the score at 2-1. The Golden Beavers also elected to make a pitching change as they brought in Fakes to pitch the final three innings.

Much like Bougie, she was strong in the early going allowing one single in each of the fifth and sixth innings.

Beaver Dam's Riley Czarnecki led off the final inning with a single before advancing to second on an error. After a walk to Edwards, Bougie was able to induce a ground out but then Haley Allen ripped a pitch past short for a single that pushed across an insurance run.

Fakes saved her best inning for the end, retiring the Wildcats in order with three strikeouts to secure the 3-1 win for Beaver Dam.

Kohl said the game spoke well for the future of his program.

"We have a very young team, and I believe that we will be able to make a run for the sectional finals the next few years," he said. "We need to find a way to get over our sectional final slump."

The Wildcats had only five seniors on this year's roster but were all important to the program in recent years.

"I will truly miss the seniors on this team," Kohl said. "Two of them played for me my first-year coaching at West four years ago. All of them have been great leaders throughout the season. It has been a pleasure coaching this team."

The Wildcats finished the season with an impressive 23-6 overall record and tied for second in Fox Valley Conference play with Hortonville at 14-4.

Oshkosh opens Legion baseball season with pair of wins

By Dustin Riese
HERALD CONTRIBUTOR

It has been nearly two years since the Oshkosh Legion team was last on the field as the 2019 state champions eagerly awaited their return.

With Mother Nature forcing the postponement of Thursday's game at Hartford and turning Sunday's doubleheader into one game, Oshkosh opened its 2021 season with two wins led by the pitching performance of Charlie Stenson. Oshkosh topped Appleton Post 38 6-0 before walking off De Pere 2-1 in nine innings.

Stenson dominated Post 38 from the opening inning and surrendered just three hits to go with 10 strikeouts.

Oshkosh's Jack McKellips picked up an RBI triple in the second to bring home Collin Ryan for a 1-0 lead.

In the fifth inning Oshkosh bats came to life for five runs for the rest of the game's scoring. Across the final three innings, Stenson allowed only one baserunner to reach second base while striking out four.

Against De Pere it was a pitching duel with starters Bailey Prevost and Payton Wright, followed by Austin Litts giving De Pere five strong innings of work while Max Bittner kept De Pere off-balance over his 4 and a third innings before turning things over to Colton Tirpe in the ninth.

Both teams had their chances throughout the game but the score remained tied 1-1 heading to the ninth. De Pere put the pressure on Tirpe early as they loaded the bases with no outs.

Wyatt Fischer then flew out to center fielder McKellips for the first out. McKellips then fired home as Tyas Olson tried to score and nailed him at the plate to keep the score tied. Tirpe then retired the next hitter to set the offense up for Oshkosh.

With Alex Stini leading for Oshkosh, he battled back from 0-2 for a leadoff walk. After advancing to second on a Brendan Krumrei bunt, Kutnink had his third hit of the game to score Stini for the win.

Hard work pays off for North distance runner

By Tim Froberg
HERALD CONTRIBUTOR

Rockets need time to launch. The same can be said for other fast-moving objects – like competitive runners.

Zach Tjugum won't argue the point. Tjugum experienced a slow start in his running career but picked up speed along the way to become a top-notch performer for Oshkosh North.

Tjugum was a first-time qualifier for the WIAA Division 1 state cross-country meet this spring, finishing No. 47 with a time of 17:21.7. He was North's No. 1 runner and placed eighth at the Fox Valley Association meet at 17:56.61.

Tjugum also had a solid track and field career at North and was the Spartans' top threat in the 3,200-meter run.

"It (the state cross-country meet) was just a really cool experience," said Tjugum. "At first, I couldn't believe that I actually got there. It was great to see all that hard work pay off."

Tjugum ran both track and cross-country for three seasons, but had greater success in the latter sport.

"I consider myself to be a better cross-country runner," Tjugum said. "In cross-country, I just think you can do a better job of running your own race and using strategy."

Tjugum started running competitively in sixth grade. His older brother, Nicholas, was a runner, so Zach decided to give it a shot. The initial results weren't so encouraging.

"I remember my first races – I was very bad at it," said Tjugum with a chuckle. "I was probably one of the worst runners. I was finishing in the bottom 10."

Those humbling days didn't last long. Tjugum improved each year and eventually went from bottom 10 to top 10.

"I had to work my way up," said Tjugum. "Running is a sport where you find out who you are. You push your body to the limit and learn what your body can do and how much you can push it. All that hard work pays off in the end. That's what I love about running."

North cross-country and boys' track and field coach Steve Danza wasn't surprised by Tjugum's emergence.

"Zach has really improved his focus and work ethic this year in both the cross country and track seasons," Danza said. "The results show."

Danza made sure that runners like Tjugum had a good overall experience.

"I'm really going to miss running for coach Danza," Tjugum said. "He really made it fun, but at the same time he made it so you could get better, if you wanted to."

Tjugum certainly got better. He improved so much that he'll be taking his running to the next level. Tjugum will attend the University of Wisconsin-Eau Claire in the fall where he will join the school's cross-country and track and field programs.

A strong student with a 3.65 grade-point average, Tjugum plans to major in computer science.

"It's pretty exciting, because it's a new opportunity," Tjugum said. "The distance in cross-country in college goes from 5K to 8K, so I'll be training really hard this summer to get ready for it."

Each year, bright lights, crowds and painfully loud noises cause cats and dogs to become frightened, lost, or even sick. Some run away and hide, some cry and strain on leashes. This year, keep your pet in a quiet room during the festivities of the Fourth. Very nervous pets may need help from your vet.

Dear Worried,

Make sure your pet has an I.D. (identification) tag that has your current phone number. You can also have an I.D. chip injected under your pet's skin by your veterinarian.

If your pet does get lost, check the neighborhood and call the animal shelter as soon as possible. Remember to keep your pets indoors on the Fourth of July.

He also bowled at the Rec, Shoreview, and Rev's.

Gary is survived by and his memory will be cherished by his wife, Carole; children, Scott (Sue), Greg (Kris), Christopher, Stacey (Bob) Bougie and Linda (John) O'Connell). Also survived by 10 grandchildren; Eric, Jeff, Barry and Nathan Patten, Bethany Wright, Elisabeth Schulz, Max, Tierney and Tiffany Bougie and Mallory Miller, four great-grandchildren, Maggie, Jules, Coco Schulz and Ty Bougie, one sister Judy (Don) Seibold, two sisters-in-law Liz (Loyal) Christian, Jean (Ron) Michels, and one brother-in-law Bill Schauer, plus many nieces, nephews, and cousins. He was preceded in death by parents Ray and Alice (Raatz) Patten and many aunts and uncles.

Gary worked at Morgans, and Kimberly-Clark and retired from UW-Oshkosh (head of custodial services-academic buildings), and moved to his retirement home across from Pleasant Lake in Waushara County. He spent some good years there working for the Westfield School District mowing grass and in winter delivering groceries to the schools. Best times were had sitting around the campfire listening to the St. Louis Cardinals ball games, drinking fire-brewed Strohs, and entertaining the grandkids. He hosted fish fries on Memorial and Labor Days (fish supplied by Uncle Beefer and friend Terry Wesner) for many years combining with the Raatz family reunion and the more that came, the merrier. He also enjoyed attending the Coloma Chicken Chew every June and playing in the horseshoe tournament.

Gary moved back to Oshkosh in May 2012 and he joined the horseshoe league at South Park and also enjoyed riding his bike all over the southside, meeting his friends at the stone bridge in South Park. He was usually the life of the party and enjoyed listening to country music, singing along with the songs, knowing all the words. He especially liked George Jones "He Stopped Loving Her Today" and Cal Smith, "It's Time to Play the Fiddler."

Funeral services for Gary will be held on Wednesday, June 30, 2021 at 4 pm in the Poklasny Funeral Home, 870 W. South Park Ave. in Oshkosh. A time of visitation will be held at the funeral home on Wednesday from 2 pm until the time of service. In lieu of flowers, a memorial fund will be established in his name.

The family would like to give thanks to everyone at Sharehaven who cared for Gary, especially Mary and Rebecca. They made life easier for us.

Obituaries

Marjorie Alice Buelow

Marjorie "Marge" Alice Buelow, age 82, went home to heaven unexpectedly on June 23rd, 2021. Marge was born in Oshkosh on March 24th, 1939 to the late Theodore A. and Alice M. (Rushesky) Freiberg. After graduating from Oshkosh high school in 1957 she married the man and love of her life, her soul mate, Duane Buelow on June 27th, 1959, at St. Joseph's Church in Oshkosh. Marge and Duane's devotion and dedication to one another was undeniable, and resulted in sharing 62 amazing and wonderful years devoting and dedicating their love, time, and support to raising their four children together. Both she and Duane were loyal members of First English Lutheran Church, and each year Marge loved decorating the Easter Cross of lilies with her children, packing and delivering Christmas baskets with Duane to those in need. In addition to raising her children Marge worked as a secretary in the family Court Commissioners office at the Winnebago County courthouse for more than 28 years. Through her employment, and at every opportunity she had, Marge would build lifelong friendships she would continue to enjoy throughout her retirement.

Marge's endless spirit, quick wit, sense of humor and energy was lit by family, love, and an incredible desire for humor, laughter, having fun and making the most of every day. Marge relied on her witty sometimes dry sense of humor to get your reaction, to share her insight, to share her thoughts, with her unending desire to bring joy through laughter, humor, and love. She had an amazing spirit that needed to be shared all day, and every day, living and loving life to the fullest. Marge made sure to keep everyone connected through her amazing recollection, documentation, and sharing of family activities, stories, and pictures. She never wasted a day, or an opportunity, and always desired to get the most out of every day with a dedication to her family and friends. Marge and Duane's family cottage, better known as "Buelow's Footage" for the past thirty years was the destination of choice for building family fun memories of swimming, fishing, boating, cribbage, poker, family games, relaxing, and more. Marge always made sure everyone was taken care of with an abundance of food, and the many treats on the counter. Marge loved her treats and wanted everyone to enjoy the same. Marge loved relaxing on her porch at the cottage, overlooking the fire pit, the swing, and the lake, while reading her favorite books and being able to keep an eye on all the family activities inside and out.

Marge and Duane loved to travel and take family vacations in the 70's to lake cottages, and "long" road trips to various mid-west destinations. Marge loved to see shows and play games of chance, so in the 70's and 80's Marge and Duane enjoyed a few "friends only" trips to Las Vegas, NV. Walking around in a casino with Marge was a treat and vision of happiness you would never forget. When retirement arrived in the 90's, Marge and Duane would join their friends, sometimes family would join, and make countless other friendships on their annual winter destination to Bullhead City, AZ for over 25 years. Marge loved playing games including her favorite BINGO, but cribbage, poker, and slots were all a close second for sure.

Whether it was at the family home on Wright Street for five plus decades, the Oakwood Street Condo for the last year, or the family cottage, Marge could always be found reading a book, assembling the latest challenging puzzle, or working on her beautiful flower gardens. Marge loved knitting and baking. Many dishcloths and blankets were shared, and of course you counted on Marge's cookies for any special occasion or simply finding the right container any day of the week to enjoy her cookies of choice.

Dad's amazing wife Marge, our beautiful Mom, proud Grandma, and Great Grandma, was the family "rock" as Dad would say. Our world will never be the same without her! Marge lived life to the fullest, with no regrets, and provided so much life, energy, and love to all of us. We will miss her incredibly until the day we all rest in peace in Jesus' arms.

Marge is survived by her husband, Duane; children, Debbie (Dean) Matthias, Mimi (Bob) Adam, Cheryl (Jeff) Curtin, Duane (Amy) Buelow; eight grandchildren, Tracy (Andy Kanak) Matthias, Kelly (Jake) Rademacher, Amanda (Jesse Wellens) Adam, Jason (Susan) Adam, Bryan (Samantha) Clark, Jackson (Alicia Rasmussen) Clark, Cameron (Artina Vite) Buelow, and Cassandra Buelow; six great-grandchildren, Silas, August, Stella, Luke, Gabriel, Eleanor plus 2 blessings on the way. Marge loved her children, grandchildren, great grandchildren and was counting the days to welcome two new beautiful babies. Marge is survived by her siblings, Jackie Gross, Barb (Carl) Salzer, Emery (Pam), and Peter (Fran) Freiberg, and her sisters-in-law, Joanne Freiberg, and Lucy Meyer. She is further survived by her many nieces, nephews, cousins, and the friends she developed over the years.

In addition to her parents, Marge was preceded in death by her brothers, Ted, and Bruce Freiberg; sisters in law Myrtle (Ken) Bernard, Shirley Buelow, LaVerne Buelow, Carolyn Proctor; brother in law Marlyn (Delores) Buelow; father and mother in law Harvey (Alvina) Buelow.

A visitation for Marge and family was held Monday June 28th, 2021 at First English Lutheran Church at 1013 Minnesota Street, Oshkosh. A funeral service was officiated by the Rev. Tim Greenwald after the visitation.

Anderson leads Glo over St. Louis

Jolene Anderson knocked down seven 3-pointers and finished with 25 points to lead six players in double figures as the Wisconsin Glo bounced back from its first loss with a 104-82 thumping of the St. Louis Surge on Sunday afternoon at Fontbonne University.

The seven 3-pointers were the most Anderson has made in a regular-season game with the Glo, while the 25 points matches her high game with the team. Wisconsin finished with 15 3-pointers as a team.

Allazia Blockton and Jessica Lindstrom each chipped in 16 points, while Taylor Wurtz added 13.
