Memorial flag salute

U.S. Army veteran Kevin Gunderson places flags at Peace Lutheran Cemetery last week ahead of Memorial Day weekend. Veterans organizations honor their departed comrades and let their families know their loved one's service to the country hasn't been forgotten. Ellen Schmidt of AMVETS Auxiliary Post 7 said more than 3,600 flags will be placed at four Oshkosh cemeteries by the Oshkosh AmVets. With no map to guide them, the teams scan all the markers to make sure no veterans' graves are missed.

Housing initiatives underway

City developing plan based on 2022 study

By Jonathan Richie
OSHKOSH HERALD

City officials have a plan to deal with a housing shortage with a focus on building single-family workforce homes.

According to a 2022 housing study, Oshkosh is facing shortages across all types of housing.

"We still have a long way to go with our housing market and trying to provide units for the people that need them," planning manager Mark Lyons said.

In 2023, 19 single family homes were constructed. Over the last four years 199 single-family homes were built in Oshkosh. At last week's Common Council meeting, Lyons and community development director Kelly Nieforth presented the housing plan.

"New single-family traditional homes are slowing in Oshkosh," Lyons said. "We are seeing less and less new single-family homes being constructed in the city."

Among the challenges facing the city is the older housing stock. There were 745 home sales in Oshkosh in 2023 with the average home being built in 1950. The oldest sold last year was built in 1853.

The city's redevelopment authority (RDA) has been purchasing infill lots that

Xroads41 organizers aspire for major Midwest festival

Improvements in works over previous events

By Jonathan Richie
OSHKOSH HERALD

A new music festival coming to Oshkosh this summer could be just the beginning for the group of local owners.

Xroads41 will have 18 acts playing Aug. 8-10. Concert goers will notice some stark changes from other festivals they may have attended at the site.

The festival is owned by Oshkosh Festivals, which is taking over the site formerly known for holding Country USA and Rock USA. Those festivals shut down during the pandemic and there hasn't been a large-scale event at the site since 2019.

The stage at Xroads41 (pronounced Crossroads 41) will host headliners Brooks & Dunn, Journey and Old Dominion. It is a country leaning lineup but not a country festival, according to organizers. Other acts include Shaggy, Tanya Tucker, Them Dirty Roses and Alana Springsteen.

Bob Bliss and John Gourley, business partners and managers for Xroads41, have more than 90 years of experience with large music festivals.

"We have a reputation throughout this industry," Bliss said. "We know the artists, the managers and the agents to get these top acts here."

Patriotic Council ready for Memorial Day

Oshkosh Herald

Memorial Day events set for May 27 are being organized by the Oshkosh Patriotic Council.

The day begins at 7 a.m. at the South Park Memorial with the Reading of the Names, coordinated by Disabled American Veterans Post 17, where area service members who were killed in action while serving the nation are recognized.

A waterfront ceremony will be held at 8 a.m. by AMVETS Post 7 Auxiliary along the Fox River near the Oshkosh Convention Center. This ceremony will include the laying of a wreath in the water by members of Oshkosh veterans service organizations and commemorates those who lost their lives at sea.

Veterans service organizations, scouting units, military vehicles and law enforcement will line up for the annual procession. The units begin at Jackson Street and go down Algoma Boulevard to Riverside Cemetery for the primary Memorial Day Service. Featured speaker is Chris Kolakowski, director of the Wisconsin Veterans Museum in Madison. At the conclusion of the ceremony will be a 21-gun salute.

“We would like to encourage the citizens of Oshkosh and surrounding areas to partake in any or all Memorial Day Ceremonies to honor those who have given the ultimate sacrifice for their country,” stated council president Duane Canon.

League building to get their poker hand.

There will be raffles that include donations from many Wisconsin sports teams, tickets to Wisconsin attractions, casino packages, overnight stays and other items. Proceeds will support the Winnebago Detachment Marine Corps League and other community programs.

Oshkosh Public Library’s Summer Reading Challenge kicks off June 1 for readers and learners of all ages.

Highlights of this year’s program:

- Customizable reading and activity trackers, accessible at oshkoshpubliclibrary.beanstack.org and at the library.

- Kids who read for 20 minutes and teens who earn 200 activity points will receive a day pass to Pollock Community Water Park.

- Incentives such as brag tags, books, snacks and gift cards.

- Free books from the library’s used bookstore, and the chance to win one of six Grand Prize packages for adults.

Participants are encouraged to read what they enjoy and track their progress throughout the summer.

“Summer break is a crucial time to prevent learning loss and promote literacy skills in children,” says Marie Boleman, head of Children’s & Family Outreach. “Our goal is to encourage a love for learning and exploration, offering a wide range of books, activities and experiences that kids need to thrive academically and creatively.”

Halley’s Comet Strikes Fear in Some: Many Oshkosh residents were wary of the passing of Halley’s Comet when it appeared at its brightest over Oshkosh on May 17, 1910. Area farmers removed lightning rods and numerous churches conducted prayer services. Far into the small hours of the night, the fearful sat waiting for the beginning of the end. Others, however, were less frightful and small crowds gathered near Lake Winnebago to get a good view. There, they were treated to a spectacle of the Northern Lights and the beautiful radiance of the moon. Some jokingly shook hands with each other as if they never expected to see them again. A few, it was reported, even held house parties to commemorate the historic event.

District teacher selected to lead Roosevelt Elementary

Oshkosh Herald

Elizabeth "Liz" Armstrong, a literacy support teacher and reading recovery instructor for Merrill and Webster Stanley elementary schools, is being recommended to serve as the next principal of Roosevelt Elementary School effective July 1.

Armstrong

Armstrong brings more than 22 years of experience as an educator, with a background in literacy and instructional leadership. School officials said she promotes a collaborative culture among staff, with high expectations for students and educators, and fosters strong relationships with families as active partners in their children's education.

"Mrs. Armstrong's diverse skills, literacy expertise, and passion for student success will foster an environment of continued growth at Roosevelt Elementary," said Superintendent Bryan Davis. "With her guidance, I am confident Roosevelt will continue providing an equitable, high-quality education that unlocks the potential within every child."

The recommendation is being presented to the Oshkosh Area School District Board of Education at this Wednesday's meeting.

Armstrong has a bachelor's degree in Spanish from the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay, a bachelor's degree in education from UW Oshkosh, and a master's in educational administration from UW-Milwaukee.

Armstrong will fill the vacant principal position as Kristin Burgert transitions to serve Carl Traeger Elementary School.

Local veterans of earlier wars remain honored by groups

Last Man's Club II had tracked Legion members

By Dan Roherty
OSHKOSH HERALD

With the ranks of World War II and Korean War veterans dwindling more than seven decades after those epic conflicts ended, American Legion Cook Fuller Post 70 members continue to stay connected to and memorialize those who served in either.

The Oshkosh post's Last Man's Club II for WWII and Korean War veterans that began with 241 members has fallen below 10, fewer than half of whom have been able to attend the semiannual club meetings at the Delta restaurant. Don Gudmanson took the club reins with the passing of Jack Fuller, a WWII Navy veteran who had helped organize the group along with being caretaker of a special glass collection commemorating its members.

Gudmanson said Last Man's Club II, which followed an earlier alliance of World War I vets, has been retired with a plaque at the Legion club that chaplain Paul Rhyner has updated by Miller Clock Service with the passing of those older veterans.

Robert "Doc" Herman is credited with creating the Last Man's Club II to continue the comradeship enjoyed by the first version of the club. Gudmanson and fellow Korean War veterans Leroy Dahms and Melvin Olson help maintain information on the group that has been turned over to the Post 70 archives.

Gudmanson said the post was very supportive of both Last Man clubs through the years.

"That club is now retired," Gudmanson said. "We just got together on an unofficial (basis) – still had our meetings, still had our memorials for those who were departing."

Gudmanson, a former chaplain and the first prison warden at Oshkosh Correctional Institution when it opened in 1986, said the group has held memorial services since the early 1980s to remember and pray for departed comrades who would join what they call the Post Everlasting.

Gudmanson, who turns 90 in July and was one of five brothers who served during the WWII and Korean War eras, said it was a unique time of unity for the country.

"I think that period that I grew up in, I was so fortunate," he said.

Rhyner said the overall Cook Fuller Post has 12 veterans of World War II remaining and 28 who served during the Korean War.

The overall number of local residents who served in World War II, officially concluded Sept. 2, 1945, with Japan's surrender, has always been difficult to pin down. The Veterans Honor Hall at Oshkosh West High School has the most comprehensive statistics for city natives short of the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs, which won't release a full list until all have passed away.

Honor Hall founder Andrew Schaller and researcher Gary E. Ross scour school records, yearbooks, obituaries and news articles to track all students from Oshkosh West – the former Oshkosh High School – who have served in the military. Two wooden military seals were put up recently on the new section of the Honor Hall and 164 names added under the new Army section.

Duane Canon, president of Vietnam Veterans of America Chapter 437, places a flag at the grave of World War II veteran Milton Pokrandt.

Schaller has noted that many WWII veterans who served did not attend high school and are difficult to track without being on school records.

"A large number of Oshkosh soldiers who served in World War II only attended school until sixth or eighth grade and went to work to help support their family," Schaller said.

Other WWII veterans whose Oshkosh connections remain elusive were those that attended private high schools like St. Peter's or didn't return to the area after their service. The Honor Hall's research has verified 3,116 from Oshkosh High who served during the war and returned, with another 101 who were killed in action.

They attended the school at some point between 1897 and 1949, mostly between 1937 and 1945. Ross said the oldest was also a World War I veteran and adviser to President Theodore Roosevelt on the Panama Canal project. Some of those in the later years also served during the Korean and Vietnam wars.

An information kiosk added to the hall in 2018 allows them to include extra details beyond name, rank and year such as newspaper clippings, obituaries and photos, which has kept Ross busy backtracking the existing WWII veterans list while confirming the accuracy of the archive.

Ross, a retired firefighter and Air Force veteran from Oshkosh, joined the Honor Hall effort in 2017 and said the stories of those killed in action were especially moving.

The Honor Hall has an ongoing Preservation Project to raise funds through the Oshkosh Area Community Foundation Honor Hall Fund.

Trinity Episcopal Church celebrates past, plans for future

Trinity Episcopal Church parishioners and guests took a big step back in time this month as they commemorated the anniversary of the church's beginning in 1854, with a special service celebrated as it would have been in the mid-19th century.

Some folks even dressed in clothes like those worn during that era.

The Rev. Chris Corbin, Trinity's rector at its downtown location at 203 Algoma Blvd., said the service May 12 – the Sunday closest to the date of Trinity's incorporation on May 11, 1854 – followed the first American Book of Common Prayer from 1789.

"Communion was not celebrated every Sunday in the middle of the 19th century in the Episcopal Church, even though that is the norm now. So, we followed what was the standard service of the time, made up of Morning Prayer, the Great Litany and the part of the communion service that happens before communion," he said. "We also took our scripture readings from the Authorized or King James Version of the Bible."

A reception after the service included tea, tea cakes, onion and herb bread, and other treats made from recipes of the time. While the clothing worn, food served and manner of worship have changed, Trinity's hallmark dedication to the Oshkosh community remains steadfast.

"Trinity has always been involved in the community. In the late 19th century, for instance, Trinity had missions around town that included work teaching English to German immigrants. The Parish Hall, at its creation, was a center of community life, filling the kind of role that something like the YMCA or for-profit entertainment or recreation venues play today," Corbin explained.

The Parish Hall, next door to the church building at 311 Division St. and housing church offices, is the focus of a recently launched capital campaign: Rooted in Faith, Building to Serve. The first phase of the effort involves adding an elevator and other upgrades to improve accessibility.

"Our hope is to ensure that our facilities continue to be open to the needs of both the church and the community," Corbin said.

Trio Academy expands into day care for young students

By Jonathan Richie
OSHKOSH HERALD

When Angela Wade started Trio Academy in 2018, her goal was to provide for children with autism in an area where there were limited resources. The academy continues to grow with a second location and a new day care program.

Trio Academy uses applied behavior analysis (ABA), which is where Wade got her start in the field while in college.

The Trio executive director was studying at the University of Wisconsin-Eau Claire to become a choir director when she learned about ABA therapy and around the same time met her future husband who has a nephew with autism.

"I love this kid and it was really cool to help and support him," Wade said. She switched majors to psychology and continued to earn her master's in behavioral analysis.

Wade realized she could bring therapy for children with autism and other developmental disabilities to the underserved area after working at a larger agency.

Autism Speaks, an awareness organization, describes ABA as therapy based on the science of learning and behavior. It can help us understand how behavior works and can help with increasing language and communication skills while improving attention, social skills and memory.

Trio Academy at 2850 Universal St. is where it began offering ABA therapy to serve this group of kids, as a private, for-profit school. The group has grown to include Young Scholars and a new day care program.

not have developmental disabilities.

The Explorers center has seven spots available for children. The day care operates out of Trio Academy East on West Seventh Avenue, which has two therapy rooms for Young Scholars and two day care rooms. It also has separate outdoor playgrounds and a play space inside for when the weather isn't cooperating.

Young Scholars started two years ago and is designed to serve children with autism and developmental disabilities. Separate from Trio Academy, Young Scholars is a nonprofit private school providing one-on-one ABA therapy for children in kindergarten through second grade.

One of the special opportunities that Explorers children get is interacting with those in therapy.

"It shows the kids in day care other behaviors, and they can form those unique connections to the other kids while they're in therapy," Wade explained. "Then the kids might say, 'I've seen that before.' The children in therapy can also see how Explorers behave."

That interaction is an experience that benefits all children.

By having the children in ABA therapy interact with the children in day care, it helps them prepare for when they enter the school system, according to Wade. These children will be going from one-on-one instruction to a third-grade classroom with many students, and these small interactions can go a long way to help a child with autism or other developmental issues.

Some parents have asked if Trio will expand the Young Scholars program into third or fourth grade.

"That's not the intention of the program. We offer that one-on-one therapy to get the children ready for school," Wade said.

"Next May we will have our first graduates of Young Scholars and they will then enter the public school system."

Young Scholars currently has a waiting list; their license allows them to enroll more children but are facing staff shortages similar to other employers.

Those interested in working at Trio Academy, enrolling their child into the day care or learning more about services offered can go to triolearning.com.

Hearing delayed in hit-and-run pedestrian death case

Oshkosh Herald

An Oshkosh man accused of striking and killing a pedestrian with his car while delivering pizzas will be back in court next month after his attorneys admitted in court they had not had enough time to go over discovery evidence.

The courtroom was filled with family and friends of Zachary Hagar, who was allegedly struck by Mark P. Radley, who also had supporters in the courtroom. Radley, 69, was charged with hit-and-run involving death in January and plead not guilty to the charges in February.

If convicted, Radley could face up to 15 years in prison followed by a maximum of 10 years of extended supervision.

A pretrial conference was set last week in front of Judge Michael Gibbs but Radley's attorney Timothy Hogan informed Gibbs the defense would need more time to go over evidence before moving forward with the case.

Gibbs granted the defense a month to go over the evidence.

Radley is out on bond, which was initially set by Court Commissioner Eric Heywood at $50,000 but Hogan argued due to his family, ties to the community and declining health the bond should be lowered. Gibbs agreed and modified it to a $5,000 cash bond.

According to the criminal complaint, police were dispatched to the area of Ohio Street and Third Avenue just after 6:30 p.m. Jan. 10. One of the first officers on the scene reported seeing a man in the southbound lane of Ohio Street with a head injury. When EMS personnel arrived, they attempted lifesaving measures but the man was declared deceased shortly after.

Authorities reviewing surveillance camera footage were able to identify the silver minivan with a license registered to Radley. Officers noted damage to the front and took Radley into custody. He told police he did not drink any alcohol and was not under the influence of drugs.

Police asked Radley about the damage to the van and he acknowledged striking something while driving. When officers asked what happened after he hit the object, Radley responded, "Just kept going, I guess, didn't know what it was."

A new pretrial conference is scheduled for July 15.

Bed project

Sleep in Heavenly Peace's mission to build beds for children and families in need was supported April 27 by Independence Financial and Olson Legal Group, which funded building 25 beds. Friends, family and Oshkosh Southwest Rotarians brought various skill levels to support the effort. Donations are used to build and deliver fully furnished beds locally. Expenses include tools, lumber and hardware for build days and new mattresses, bedding and pillows for deliveries. More information is at shpbeds.org/chapter/wi-oshkosh.

Summer concert

There have been several changes not so recognizable at the site on South Washburn Avenue. The entrance has been redone to allow for up to 20 lanes of traffic. Bliss said a traffic coordination company will be brought in to help alleviate some of the congestion issues the former festivals experienced.

"Traffic was one of the top issues we've heard about when speaking to people in the community," Bliss said. "We will have professionals out there which should help with some of that congestion. We will also have a box office off site where people will be able to pick up all of their passes and tickets before getting on the grounds."

This is designed to alleviate other stressors at the front gates and allow for a better experience for festival goers, whether attending for a day or being on the grounds for all three days.

Chet Weisenberg is one of the owners of Oshkosh Festivals along with his father-in-law Tom Rusch and others. Weisenberg said that while traffic can be an issue, the No. 1 concern the community has passed on to the organization is the potential for rain and mud.

Oshkosh Festivals planned the event for August based on 100-year data that shows it to be the driest month of the summer. They have also installed more than 20 miles of drainage tile on site to help move water away from the concert seating area and campsites.

Bliss said other additions on the site include fiber optic cable for better connectivity and old fencing replaced.

Xroads41 will look similar to previous festivals with the stage in the same place, but organizers are moving where VIPs can watch the musicians.

"Instead of having the VIP area directly in front of the stage and general admission behind them, we are bringing in temporary grandstands to sit on the side of the stage for VIPs to sit in and then general admission ticket holders will be able to get right up in front of the stage," Bliss said.

Oshkosh Festivals is working with the community to assure there is local buy-in but they are doing it with a management team with experience from all over the country, Bliss added.

"The community has been great," Bliss said.

"This team we've got is second to none," Weisenberg said. "It's top notch from the talent side to the big step up in security. This is all they do and it's been very encouraging throughout the process."

Beyond a stage for live music it will also have an abundance of festival experiences not usually seen such as an art exhibition.

"We're reworking what a festival can look like in this region. I cannot say enough about the elevated experience this will be and it will be a higher quality experience than festivals in the past," Weisenberg said.

The festival has its own ambassador for social media to answer questions people may have while promoting the event. Makenna Mae is the official ambassador for Xroads41.

"You can really tell they put a lot of thought into this," she said.

Mae is the lead singer in the band Grand Union and brings musical and Fox Valley knowledge to the team.

Last week an open house and ribbon-cutting was held out at the grounds at 4125 S. Washburn Ave. Chamber of Commerce president Rob Kleman was in attendance and said he couldn't be happier a multiday festival is coming back to Oshkosh.

"This will become an economic driver for Oshkosh," Kleman said. "This could become a great regional draw in the future and that will create this trickle-down effect for the whole city."

He said the event will add to the summer events held in Oshkosh such as EAA AirVenture and Waterfest, which bring people into the city and benefit commercial businesses like restaurants and hotels.

"This is a great day for Oshkosh," Kleman said. "We're always pushing for more growth. Xroads41 will be an economic advantage and moves the community forward."

According to Bliss, ticket sales have been good with plenty of options still available for all areas and camping sites.

"We don't anticipate selling out in our first year," Bliss said. "But we do plan on building from this and making the next festival even better. It's a new type of festival we're offering and we are very excited for that."

General manager for the festival is Bliss's son-in-law Corey Bliss, who has more than 25 years of experience in the field. He told the Plan Commission in February that Xroads41 has the potential to be the Coachella of the Midwest.

Bob Bliss said Oshkosh Festivals continues to move at a quick pace since work began in February 2023 and plans are for it to be an annual event, with announcement of a second festival for 2025.

Oshkosh West graduate Grace Weber is graduating from Lawrence University in Appleton to pursue advanced education in physics research.

Fast-track Lawrence graduate finds path to medical physics

By Deanna Kolell
LAWRENCE UNIVERSITY

When Grace Weber first stepped foot on the Lawrence University campus, she didn't expect to be graduating in three years.

Despite her fast-track to the commencement stage – she graduates June 9 – Weber made the most of her time at Lawrence. The physics major from Oshkosh took part in physics research that put a focus on accessibility and set her on a path toward a career in medical physics. She will be attending the University of Minnesota this fall to study medical physics, which Weber said works with coding various pieces of medical equipment, such as linear accelerators, MRI scanners and ultrasounds.

"I want to, in the future, hopefully be a clinical medical physicist where I'd be able to work with cancer patients and create treatment plans," she said.

The Oshkosh West graduate chose to apply her love for physics at Lawrence. Her godmother, Alice Young '92, attended Lawrence and told her about how she valued the community.

Starting in June 2023, she dove into summer research developing an open-source microscope. Her research centered around how to bring research-grade microscopy into the classroom by making it more cost-effective. Components of the microscope were either 3D printed, courtesy of the Lawrence University Makerspace, or created with easily accessible software. The replicability of the microscope makes it ideal for an undergraduate setting.

"Because it is mostly 3D printed, we're able to present it to other schools, and they can make it easily, so that sharing the knowledge is the goal," Weber said.

She and a co-worker, Joseph Carpenter, a junior math and physics double major from Minneapolis, received a grant from the Wisconsin Space Grant Consortium (WSGC) to fund their work on the microscope. It also came with an opportunity to give a presentation at the Wisconsin Space Conference in August.

"Being able to share the research that I had done really helped me prepare for my future and brought me a lot of excitement," Weber said.

For her Senior Experience, Weber worked on making the microscope capable of 3D imaging. By modifying the microscope lenses, she can code it to track a particle in three dimensions.

Thanks to her high school credits and her fall semester study abroad experience in Amsterdam, Weber was able to graduate in three years. Spending a semester abroad – compared to Lawrence's trimester schedule – allowed her to accrue more credits.

'4+1' MPA program merges public, private career goals

The master of public administration (MPA) program at the University of Wisconsin Oshkosh, established in 1972 for employees in public, nonprofit and health care agencies interested in enhancing their knowledge and skills, recently joined forces with the undergraduate sociology program to create an innovative, accelerated dual-degree pathway called "4+1."

Now the largest MPA program in Wisconsin and offered completely online, UW Oshkosh's career pathway emphasizes public administration, nonprofit leadership, fire and emergency administration, and management and health agency administration. It includes a network of alums that help provide job placement opportunities.

It is known as a "4+1" program because students have the opportunity complete a substantial portion of their MPA graduate work while still undergrads, with those credits likewise counting toward their bachelor's degree. This allows them to complete their undergrad and graduate degrees in as little as five years.

It is the only such program in Wisconsin and one of the only in the Midwest.

According to MPA program director Michael Ford, "Our new Sociology to MPA 4+1 program connects public-service minded undergraduates with a longstanding professional degree program. This program will strengthen the talent pipeline of public service professionals working to improve Wisconsin communities and their residents."

Paul Van Auken, chair of the UWO Department of Sociology & Public Administration, worked closely with Ford and two other colleagues – Anna Filipova and Juyeon Son – from a department subcommittee to develop the program plan and curriculum, in consultation with the university's registrar Jenny Bonack and Kathy Zuckweiler, dean of graduate studies.

According to Van Auken, it is common for sociology graduates to pursue careers in public service, various educational settings, and health-related fields.

"We're very excited about this partnership," he said. "It's a natural fit, and the 4+1 will create a quicker path to the leadership roles that so many of our alums eventually land in."

Undergraduate sociology majors or minors declare the public administration emphasis within sociology and apply to the 4+1 program during their junior year.

This involves taking multiple MPA courses, such as Introduction to Public Administration and Leadership & Ethics, during their senior year.

A small single-family home is in the works on Farmington Avenue. City officials said the 19 lots are planned to be established after Farmington Avenue is extended east.

Housing plans

are typically smaller or oddly shaped lots, or lots with blighted properties that the city plans to sell to private developers.

As the RDA continues to buy these lots, they are developing an infill lot design book being produced by the Office of Jonathan Tate, an urban and design architecture firm based in New Orleans, and should be completed in late summer.

The design book will have houses for developers to look at to see what types could fit in the variety of infill lots across the city.

There are two projects Nieforth and Lyons are focusing on this year. The first is a public-private partnership with Habitat for Humanity to build workforce housing at the site of Washington Elementary School and the second is a planned subdivision off Farmington Avenue.

Washington Elementary on Winnebago Avenue is shutting its doors at the end of this school year and there is a deal in place for the school district to sell the lot to the city for $75,000. The parcel will be divided into 18 lots and be a mix of private developer houses and Habitat homes.

Workforce housing is defined by the city as being for residents that earn between 80% and 120% of area median income. For Winnebago County, the area median income is $94,600, meaning workforce housing households have an income between $75,680 and $113,500.

On Farmington Avenue, the road is set to be extended east and the area divided into 19 lots ranging from just under 6,000 square feet to just under 16,000 square feet, with most lots being around 9,000 square feet, according to preliminary plans.

The two projects have the potential to create 37 new single-family homes.

Lyons said there are several multifamily developments that have been approved for which construction has not started, including the 295 units in the Mill on Main project on South Main Street.

Since 2020, the Common Council has approved 1,611 multifamily residential units with only 179 being completed, 350 units under construction and 1,082 from projects that have not been started.

Saturday Farmers Market in Oshkosh marks 30 years

Oshkosh Herald

Founded in 1994, the Oshkosh Farmers Market has evolved into the city's premiere community event and the place to go for fresh locally grown food for 10,000-plus customers on summer Saturday mornings.

The Saturday downtown market is an independent volunteer effort that continues to be recognized as one of the top farmers markets in the state and nationally.

"Our volunteer team and market manager work hard to create a welcoming, diverse, accepting and fun culture that includes the entire community and beyond," said Michael J. Cooney, market board chair.

The market received applications from 189 vendors requesting space with 26 first-time vendors being welcomed this season.

Last year there were 164 vendor applications and 156 in 2022.

Besides 51 producers of locally grown fruits, vegetables and meats, this year's market will include 19 ready-to-eat food truck or food booths. Prepared food – cheeses and sausages, honey, maple syrup, baked goods, canned goods, coffee, olive oil and other products – will be offered by 21 vendors.

"By midsummer we will have about 140 vendors," said Michelle Schmidt-Schultz, market manager. "Market customers will find new offerings at the market each week as seasonal products become available and new vendors join the market."

Three new events have been added to join the Christmas in July, Kids' Day, Flag Day at the Market, Pumpkin Decorating and Trick or Treat at the Market. On Aug. 3, Jazzercise will get the market dancing in the street.

On June 22 the market will host the OFAA Plein Air Festival and Sept. 14 will feature the Oshkosh Fine Arts Association for Art at the Market.

Polka at the Market with the Jerabek Family Polka Band is set for Sept. 7, and YMCA Day set for Sept. 28 features classes and demonstrations throughout the morning.

"One of our more unique new programs will be Tomatomania," Cooney said. "Working with 4imprint, the market will offer grade school age kids certificates to purchase tomato plants at the market. Once purchased the young growers can come back to Market Central to get a T-shirt proudly declaring that they are a 'Tomatomaniac.'"

The market banned the use of Styrofoam for retail sales starting last year to reduce the market's carbon footprint on the community. Free market shopping bags will be provided by sponsoring local companies.

Feeding America and the UW Extension will be providing on-site SNAP benefit distribution and matching at the Oshkosh Area Food Pantry for use at the farmers market.

Professional photographers will continue to document market shoppers for the popular display weekly on the market's Facebook page, also to be archived by the Oshkosh Public Library.

Patricia Verhoeven-Provost and her brother Steve were on hand as Richard's School of the Dance marked 75 years since its founding by their father.

Dance school celebrates 75 years

Oshkosh Herald

Richard's School of the Dance celebrated 75 years in downtown Oshkosh on May 11 with former owner Patricia Verhoeven-Provost paying tribute to the current owner as well as her father who founded the studio.

Verhoeven-Provost visited from her home in Sarasota, Fla., to help celebrate the anniversary with owner and former student Tricia Olson-Bayer, who bought Richard's from her in 2009.

"Thank you, Tricia, for carrying the torch forward and keeping the spirit of dance alive in this community," Verhoeven-Provost said at the event.

Richard Verhoeven started the dance school and ran it for 40 years before Verhoeven-Provost took over in 1989. She said there were former dancers from her time with the studio who returned to help celebrate the anniversary.

Verhoeven-Provost's brother Steve, who taught music for 40 years and was drummer for the studio with its live orchestra, joined her on stage to pay homage to their parents and the current studio.

Richard's offers quality dance education in many disciplines for all ages at 219 State St. in Oshkosh along with a location serving the Kohler-Sheboygan area.

YMCA to host 9th annual Kids Mud Run

The Oshkosh YMCA is hosting the 9th annual Kids Mud Run on June 2 for children ages 4-16 as they complete a 1-mile course that includes more than 15 obstacles at the YMCA's 20th Avenue location.

A Family Fest is also open and free to the community from noon to 3 p.m. that day with face painting, balloons, temporary tattoos, music and lawn games.

Proceeds from the event support the For All Financial Assistance Program that assists youth, families and individuals for memberships, programs and child care.

Seventh-inning run lifts Spartans past rival Wildcats

By Dustin Riese
HERALD CONTRIBUTOR

A bases-loaded walk in the top of the seventh provided Oshkosh North with the winning run as the Spartans edged rival Oshkosh West, 5-4, last Thursday.

Pinch-runner Dominic Schettle trotted home with the go-ahead run after Colton Angell drew the free pass off West reliever Ryan Williamson. Max Kese opened the seventh with a base hit before being replaced by Schettle. A hit-by-pitch and a walk loaded the bases before Angell's at bat.

Jackson Anderson retired Oshkosh West in order in the bottom of the seventh to close out the win.

The tie-breaking run capped a nice comeback for the Spartans, who trailed 4-1 after the first inning but rallied for three runs in the fourth.

Carson Steinbeck opened the Spartans' fourth inning and scored a few batters later on Connor Palmquist's bases-loaded groundout. Anderson picked up an RBI-single that scored Angell in the frame before North tied the score when Zack Kiffmeyer stole home.

"I thought the guys in the fourth inning were patient instead of trying to score all at once," North head coach Robert Loeper said. "They just worked deep counts to get on base."

Oshkosh North grabbed the lead to open the game when Angell smacked a solo home run in the top of the first but the Wildcats came up with a big answer in the bottom of the inning.

Gavin Ruh, Williamson and Ricky Ludwig each had run-scoring singles in the bottom of the first inning, while West also picked up a run on a passed ball to take a 4-1 lead. The Wildcats tallied three hits in the frame but would get just one more over the final six innings.

"Our guys competed well and played tough," West coach Tony Gerharz said. "We wish we could have gotten some more runs (in the first inning), but Angell did a nice job keeping us scoreless after the first inning."

Angell settled down on the mound after the first inning and allowed just four hits in five innings. He struck out seven and only three of the four runs he allowed were earned.

Anderson threw two hitless innings in relief.

"I thought this might have been one of Colton's best pitching performances," Loeper said. "West did a nice job battling but he fought through and gave us five real strong innings."

The Wildcats got a strong start from Avery Mosloski, who allowed just three hits over five innings and struck out two.

West's Williamson was the only player in the game with more than one hit, finishing 2-for-3.

Oshkosh North's Colton Angell (above) and Oshkosh West's Avery Mosloski were the starting pitchers in last Thursday's matchup. The Spartans won the game 5-4.

Lourdes Academy's Proud leaves legacy on diamond

Reagon Proud is likely to be a four-time first-team all-Trailways Conference selection and one of the most decorated softball players in Lourdes Academy history.

By Tim Froberg
HERALD CONTRIBUTOR

Keeping Reagon Proud off the base-paths has been a Herculean task for opposing pitchers.

Keeping her out of the record books has been even tougher.

The skilled, speedy senior shortstop will close her decorated high school sports career as one of the most impactful players in Lourdes Academy girls' softball program history.

Proud is the program's all-time leader in stolen bases (73) heading into this week's regional semifinal tournament action and she holds the school record for most steals in a single season (29 in 2022). But it takes hits to get on base and swipe bags. Few Knights' players have been more productive at the plate than Proud, who is second in school history in base hits with 133 behind only Lauren Schiek.

Proud is also second on Lourdes' all-time home run list (nine) behind all-time leader Chloe Evans. Both Schiek and Evans became Division 1 college softball players.

"I've been fortunate to have coached Reagon, Lauren (Schiek) and Chloe (Evans)," said Lourdes coach Jim Johnson. "All three were amazing talents and fantastic people."

Proud landed a spot on the 2023 Wisconsin Fastpitch Coaches Association Team for Divisions 4 and 5 and was an all-district selection. She is expected to land first-team all-conference honors in 2024 for the fourth consecutive year.

"Reagon is a fun player to watch," said Johnson. "She is a dynamic, high-energy player who gives you every last drop she has to give."

Proud has given Lourdes a consistent spark the past four years. A right-handed hitter with exceptional speed and good power, Proud entered this week with a .488 batting average, 10 RBI and nine stolen bases. As a junior, Proud hit a prolific .559 with five home runs, 25 RBI and 16 stolen bases. Proud had a .554 batting average as a sophomore with three homers, 25 RBI and 29 stolen bases after launching her prep career with a .590 batting average, a homer, 15 RBI and 19 stolen bases her freshman year.

A team captain, Proud has played through injuries countless times.

"Reagon plays fast and plays hard," Johnson said. "More than once she has dislocated fingers or a shoulder, but she has never left the game."

"Reagon is very driven and has a strong desire to excel and achieve. These traits will serve her well in anything she decides to pursue."

Proud takes pride in what she has accomplished on the diamond.

"I've been playing softball my whole life and it's really cool to be recognized for some of these things," she said.

Despite the extra-base punch she has shown at the plate, Proud considers herself to be a contact hitter. And once she's on base, Proud knows how to pressure a defense.

"I'm more of a line-drive hitter than power hitter and I know how to use my speed," Proud said. "When I'm on base, I

Are you tired of living with chronic nerve pain or numbness?

New Treatment for nerve pain & neuropathy!

Breakthrough technology previously only available at major academic medical research centers

Now Available in Wisconsin!

Only at Max Wellness Pain Relief in Oshkosh

What is Calmare Scrambler Therapy®?

It works by sending bioelectric "packets" of patient specific "non-pain" messages that are transmitted to pain receptors through surface electrodes on the skin, similar to EKG electrodes. These signals are repeated each day of the week during a 1-hour treatment session. Most patients require 10-15 visits over two to three weeks, then 1-2 maintenance visits every 3-12 months after that. Calmare Scrambler Therapy® is an FDA approved, European CE Mark certified medical device that utilizes non-invasive electro-analgesia.

Is Calmare Scrambler Therapy® the same as Transcutaneous Nerve Stimulations (TENS)?

No, Calmare Scrambler Therapy® is unique and different from TENS. Scrambler therapy sends an electrical impulse that mimics the "language" that your own nervous system uses in order to overwrite your pain with a non-pain message. This effectively changes the "conversation" taking place between your body and your brain. A TENS unit only provides temporary relief while the device is on because the brain does not recognize the signal being sent. With Calmare, the brain learns the non-pain message over consecutive treatments until it sticks and provides lasting relief.

Neuro-modulation using the Calmare medical device can provide relief for:

- Chemotherapy-induced peripheral neuropathy (CIPN)
- Chronic cancer-related pain
- Complex Regional Pain Syndrome (CRPS)
- Diabetic neuropathy
- Neck pain, back pain, radiculopathy, and sciatica
- Shingles and post-herpetic neuralgia (PHN)
- Phantom limb syndrome
- Post-surgical neuropathic pain
- Trigeminal neuralgia
- Central pain syndrome

Local athletes tabbed for WBCA all-star games

A pair of crosstown rivals will now be teammates at the Wisconsin Basketball Coaches Association All-Star Games this summer.

Oshkosh North's Ava Hanson and Oshkosh West's Paige Seckar will suit up on the same Division 1 North team when the games take place June 26-27 at Justagame Fieldhouse in Wisconsin Dells.

Both Hanson and Seckar were first-team all-conference selections in the Fox Valley Association and led their respective teams in scoring this past season. They will be the only two players representing the FVA in the Division 1 game.

Lourdes Academy's Charley Mullen will also be participating in the Division

5 game as a member of the South squad. Mullen was a key factor on the Knights' Trailways East champions earning honorable mention all-conference honors.

Mullen was one of three Trailways Conference players selected to participate in the game along with Randolph's Mya Moldenhauer and Fall River's Olivia Fietz.

The girls games are slated for June 26 with the Division 5 contest starting the day at 9 a.m. The Division 1 game is slated for approximately 4 p.m.

Oshkosh will also be represented in the boys games.

Stevie Clark will play his final high school game as a member of the Division 1 Red squad. The first-team all-Fox Valley Association selection is the only FVA member on the Red squad, but will face Neenah's Brady Corso and Charlie Wunderlich, Appleton East's Joey LaChapell and Kimberly's Thomas Meyers, who are on the White squad.

In Division 5, Lourdes Academy stand-out JJ McKellips will suit up for the Division 5 White squad and will be led by the Knights head coach Brett Baehman. McKellips was a four-year varsity player and was named Player of the Year in the Trailways East this season.

The boys games begin with the Division 5 game at 9 a.m. on June 27 with the Division 1 game slated to start at approximately 4 p.m.

keep a close eye on the pitcher and catcher and where the infielders are playing."

Proud has been the Knights' shortstop her entire prep softball career and has been a fixture at the position since she started playing the game at the age of six.

"I'm someone who likes to go after those ground balls and isn't afraid of getting dirty," said Proud with a laugh. "I've always enjoyed the range that you get when you play short-stop."

Proud hails from a softball-baseball family. Her mother, Kristine, was a former pitcher at Oshkosh West who later served as the Wildcats' head softball coach. She played collegiately at the University of California-Riverside. Reagon's grandfather, Bob Siewert, coached for years in the Oshkosh area and has served as a softball tournament director.

"Softball has always been a big thing in our family," said Proud. "I've enjoyed other sports, but I've always loved softball the best."

Proud, though, isn't just a softball player. She's been a three-sport athlete at Lourdes who has also been a valuable Knights' contributor in basketball and volleyball the past few years. She was a forward in basketball and a right-side hitter in volleyball.

"Playing three sports has kept me busy, but it's been a lot of fun," Proud said. "I love being involved in three sports. It's allowed me to meet and talk with a lot of different people. I met my best friend (Hannah McDowell) through volleyball. Had I not gone out for it, I would have missed out on that."

In addition to her three-sport prep career, Proud also plays travel ball during the summers with Wisconsin Bandits out of Horicon.

"I was able to take what I learned from travel ball to Lourdes and it helped me achieve some of my goals," she said.

Proud won't be playing basketball or volleyball in the near future, but will have her hands full with softball. She has accepted an athletic scholarship to play Division 2 softball at Upper Iowa University in Fayette, Iowa.

"I'm going to have to work for it, but I have a strong mindset and I'm willing to do what it takes," Proud said. "There were a few other offers, but when I visited there, I really liked the campus, the people I met and the community."

"It reminded me a lot of Lourdes. It felt like a family where everyone supports one another - just like at Lourdes."

Proud is an honor-roll student at Lourdes with a 3.27 grade-point-average. She plans to major in speech pathology.

"I have a voice box disfunction where basically my voice box doesn't open up to get enough air into my lungs," Proud said. "So I've gone through speech therapy myself to help me with my breathing. I've had great doctors and have found the field to be very interesting."

Together, is a great place to be.

Titans capture regional softball title on home field

OSHKOSH HERALD

Two former Oshkosh West standouts played a key role in the UW Oshkosh softball team claiming an NCAA Division III regional title on Saturday in Oshkosh.

Brianna Davis finished 2-for-4 and drove in two runs while Brianna Bougie pitched three scoreless innings in relief in the Titans' 8-3 win over the College of St. Benedict which clinched the fourth regional title in program history.

Davis smacked a two-run double in the third inning to put the Titans ahead, 3-2, and then scored on a Sydney Rau base hit for a two-run cushion.

After St. Benedict narrowed the gap with a run in the fourth inning, Davis ignited a three-run rally in the fifth inning with a one-out double and the Titans cruised from there.

The fifth inning is also when Bougie relieved starter Sydney Nemetz and kept St. Benedict from staging a late-inning charge.

Bougie, who earned her eighth save of the season, allowed two hits and a walk over the three innings, while striking out three. She got the final outs of the game on a double play ground ball.

The Titans (42-4), who are ranked 12th in the nation, had previously won regional titles in 2021, 2017 and 1988. Oshkosh will advance to a super regional against fifth-ranked and defending national champion Trine University. The first game of the best-of-three series will be on Thursday with the winner of the super regional advancing to the World Series.

Oshkosh opened the regional tournament with a 4-1 win over the College of St. Benedict on Thursday and then followed with a 1-0 victory over Illinois Wesleyan University.

Davis finished 4-for-9 with the two doubles in the three games and did not strike out the entire weekend.

Bougie pitched three hitless innings and got the win in the victory over Illinois Wesleyan. She pitched six scoreless innings overall in the three games and totaled five strikeouts.

Both Davis and Bougie were named to the all-tournament team along with Nemetz — who was the winning pitcher in the first game against St. Benedict and Morgan Rau. Nemetz was named the Most Outstanding Player in the regional tournament.

UW-Stevens Point and UW-Whitewater both qualified for the Division III tournament but both were eliminated in regional play.

Betty J. Mauritz

Betty Jean (Fuhs) Mauritz passed away peacefully on Sunday, May 19, 2024 surrounded by family on her last days after a brief battle with cancer.

Betty was born on August 31, 1934 at home on the family farm to Warren and Ella Fuhs, sixteen hours after her twin brother Bob. She attended Skeleton Bridge School, a one-room school house, from first through eighth grade. Betty graduated from Winneconne High School in 1952.

On June 26, 1954, Betty married Lee Mauritz. Together they loved trips to Minocqua and Wisconsin Rapids to visit friends. They also enjoyed walking miles on the weekends. Taking family trips to Mexico, Kiawah Island, SC, California, Colorado and Disney World, Florida. Betty also enjoyed shopping, ceramics, exercise classes, bowling and golfing.

After having two children, Betty became a certified nursing assistant, starting at Mercy Medical Center on the orthopedic floor. She also worked for United Cerebral Palsy, being a bright light to the children in her care. Later she was employed in private duty nursing for many prominent Oshkosh families, finally retiring at age 78. She loved caring for others!

Betty had many amazing qualities – she was a warm and beautiful person inside and out. She was a great cook and an impeccable housekeeper. She could spot a crumb on the floor a mile away and have Lee get out the dust buster.

Betty is survived by her loving husband

Lee, just short of 70 years, daughter Linda (Keith) Rhode, son Robert (JoAnne) Mauritz, grandchildren Shelby (Jerod) Lloyd, Lance (Shelly) Rhode, Lauren Mauritz, and Jonathan (Amber) Mauritz, eleven great-grandchildren, and one great-great-grandchild due in September. She is also survived by her brothers Robert (Bridget) Fuhs and Howard (Judy) Fuhs, and sisters-in-law Mary Ellen Tollard and Barbara Daul.

She was preceded in death by her sister Mary (Howard) Johnson and brothers-in-law Harold Tollard and Frances Daul.

Special thanks to the Gabriel's Villa Care team and Moments Hospice both for their exceptional care and compassion for Betty.

Family and friends attended a celebration of life at Konrad-Behlman Funeral Home, Westside, 100 Lake Pointe Drive, Oshkosh, WI on Tuesday, May 21, 2024, 4-6 PM. Private burial will be held at a later date.

gle Street, Oshkosh. A time of visitation was held at the church on Monday from 11:00 am until the time of service. Burial followed with full military honors at New Elm Cemetery.

A very warm and sincere thank you to the angels from Hospice for their wonderful caring spirit, and to the staff at Hometown Pharmacy and all his caretakers for their kindness. Though our hearts are broken we can take joy in knowing we will meet you again one day in Heaven. God and Mom have kept a special spot for you. We will miss all those "dad-isms" that always made us smile and laugh. Those blue eyes will be smiling down on us. We love you!

Anne was born on October 5, 1938 in Yonkers, NY to Thomas and Anna Keating. She was the only girl in a good Irish family with five brothers. Anne loved school and was an enthusiastic lifelong learner. She graduated as a French major from the College of Mount Saint Vincent in the Bronx and received a prestigious award from the New York area Alliance Francais to study in Paris, and later a Fulbright award for a year of study at the Universite' de Poitiers, France. Anne was then admitted to the French program at Yale University, where she studied before taking a break to teach French at Connecticut College for two years before returning to Yale. ### Memorial Day Decoration Day began following the U.S. Civil War in 1868. Flowers were placed on the graves of more than 20,000 soldiers from both the North and South buries at Arlington National Cemetery.

It was a day that people set aside to decorate the graves of soldiers who had dies fighting in the Civil War.

Memorial Day became a federal holliday in 1971. Banks, schools, government offices and many businesses closed on Memorial Day so that people could take time to honor and remembers those who died fighting for America.

The National Memorial Day Purade in Washington, D.C. is held every year. It begin in 2005, and by 2009, more than 300,000 people lined the parade route.
